DYE GARDEN UPDATE by Gail Mayo

Dye garden update finds the garden doing well in spite of the continued onslaught of voles. The bedstraw and tansy permanent plots are looking good and the raised beds have some new plants for us to try for dyeing. The other plants are marguerite, rudbeckia, marigold and coreopsis. They have all been severely cropped by the voles. As always, the garden is in need of weeding and any help is appreciated. The 2017 Dye Garden email list is all new, so don't rely on having been on the list before. To be on the dye garden email list send your email to mayogail@gmail.com.

AUGUST 2 Wed, FAIR BOOTH DISPLAY SETUP

Plan to meet at the fair booth at 3pm to set up the display for the opening on Friday, August 4th.

Sign up for booth assignments through the iVolunteer website like last year.
